AIRFARE COST COMPARISON EXPLANATION AND EXAMPLES

All travelers and those that arrange travel for others are required to make air reservations using schedules, direct routing, air carriers, and departure location that will produce the most economical fare for the trip. A cost comparison must be done at the time of booking and attached to expense reports under the following circumstances:

- I. Indirect routing or extra stops for personal reasons;
- II. Stopovers that result in a hotel stay for more than one night;
- III. Using transportation methods that are not the most efficient or cost-effective (i.e., electing to drive/take a train versus fly when flying would be the most efficient and cost-effective option); or
- IV. Departing from/returning to an airport outside of Wisconsin or more than 100 miles from the Wisconsin border for personal reasons (including departing from/returning to a voluntary remote work location).

When additional travel days are added because the traveler elects to combine personal days with business travel, the traveler does not need to provide an airfare cost comparison for the actual dates of travel, but is responsible for any additional costs directly resulting from adding nonbusiness travel days (including additional days of lodging, M&IE per diems, parking, vehicle rental, etc.).

Either the traveler's actual travel or comparison travel -whichever is less expensive – is payable/reimbursable.

Acceptable cost comparisons:

- When booking via Concur, provide Concur screenshots. Refer to the guidance below on preferred format of cost comparisons.
 - NOTE: If Concur isn't returning results with a price, (usually international itineraries), a cost comparison MUST be obtained from the designated travel agency.
- When booking via the designated agency, request documentation such as emailed quotes.

Due to airfare pricing and availability fluctuation, accurate cost comparisons must be done at the time of booking to be valid. For screenshots it is recommended to "Save to PDF" or email the document the date the comparison was completed.

A valid Concur or agency cost comparison includes:

- Proof that the cost comparison was done on the same date as the purchased actual airfare.
- Proof that the travel dates shown on the comparison correspond with the UW business dates.

EXAMPLE 1. Concur cost comparison for personal airfare is more expensive than the business airfare.

Conference travel. The conference is September 17 – September 20 in New Orleans, LA. The traveler would like to spend extra days AND fly to/from Baton Rouge, LA to visit family. They will fly to/from Baton Rouge and not the conference location of New Orleans, so a cost comparison is required.

1. Search Concur for approved conference dates.
